"Employment and Social Inclusion: The Impact and Role of Rehabilitation Counselors"

Call for Program Proposals – SCIENTIFIC POSTER PRESENTATION

Deadline Date: SUNDAY, JULY 15, 2018 at 10:00PM PT

The National Rehabilitation on Counselor Education conferences are a means of facilitating communication and sharing information among professionals involved in training, recruiting, hiring and enhancing the development of qualified rehabilitation counselors. The focus of the annual National Council on Rehabilitation Education (NCRE), Fall conference is on examining new developments in areas that form the foundation of rehabilitation counseling practice and research— namely, facilitating the ability, and limiting barriers, to obtaining employment, improving health and functioning, and increasing participation in the community among individuals who have a chronic illness and/or disability. An emphasis is also placed on gaining and sharing knowledge regarding effective strategies for educating, recruiting, and supervising the development of future rehabilitation counseling practitioners, researchers, and educators.

This year, the conference planning committee is soliciting papers consistent with the theme "Employment and Social Inclusion: The Impact and Role of Rehabilitation Counselors". This theme was chosen to refocus our attention on the fundamental goal of rehabilitation counseling and a rehabilitation counselor, which is to assist those with a chronic illness and/or disability achieve full inclusion into society, regardless of functional limitations.

For this conference, NCRE seeks to broaden and diversify the exposure and content for conference attendees. Our intent is to keep up with the national trends and legislative changes affecting Rehabilitation Counseling while staying true to our traditional identity. The tracks are designed to capture as much content as possible in a comprehensive format. Our hope is that participants gain important and meaningful knowledge regarding the pertinent issues that affect our profession.

THE CONFERENCE FEATURES THE FOLLOWING TRACKS THAT MUST RESPOND TO THE THEME

1. Counseling and Supervision
2. Community and Participation
3. Educational Pedagogy and Strategies
4. Employment
5. Health and Functioning
6. Research: Innovative and Transformative Research in the Field of Rehabilitation Counseling

CONFERENCE TRACKS AND DESCRIPTIONS

Descriptions of the individual conference tracks are provided below. Proposals that examine the experience of diverse populations, as well as the international community, in relation to the focus of the particular track (e.g., employment, health and functioning, etc.) are encouraged.

Characteristics of diverse populations include, but are not limited to, differences of race/ethnicity, age, gender, sexual orientation, socioeconomic status, religious/spiritual, and language.

1. Counseling and Supervision

For this track, proposals should examine or demonstrate effective practices, report on research outcomes, and address future directions involved in the counseling and supervision of rehabilitation counseling students.

2. Community and Participation

For this track, proposals should address factors and practices that assist individuals with chronic health and/or disabilities overcome obstacles and barriers in regards to full participation and access to the community. Examples of research include the assessment of community participation, the role of family caregivers, community services and support programs, and accessibility issues (e.g., transportation, homes, community services and supports).

3. Educational Pedagogy and Strategies

For this track, proposals should address the development and practice of educational strategies designed to improve the recruitment and training outcomes of students at the bachelors, masters, and doctorate level of rehabilitation counseling programs.

4. Employment

For this track, proposals should address factors and practices related to employment outcomes among individuals with chronic health and/or disabilities, particularly in regards to individuals with psychiatric disabilities, young adults with disabilities, and other underrepresented populations. Proposals, however, are not limited to these populations. Examples include the development or examination of employment interventions, services and supports, employer practices, or the effects of public policies.

5. Health and Functioning

For this track, proposals should address the development or examination of rehabilitation strategies, practices, technologies, or programming designed to reduce the functional limitations and improve the physical and/or mental health outcomes among individuals with chronic health conditions and/or disability. This track also includes research that examines health disparities as well as strategies, policies, and interventions designed to reduce those disparities.

6. Research: Innovative and Transformative Research in the Field of Rehabilitation Counseling

For this track, proposals should address research activities and outcomes related to the full inclusion and integration of individuals with chronic illnesses and/or disabilities into any aspect of society not already described in the other conference tracks.

SUBMISSION PROPOSAL ONLINE LINK

Proposals will be submitted through the NCRE website using the online submission form located on the homepage under the “Conference” tab. Select “Fall 2018 Conference, which will direct you to the overview page and refer to the heading Call for Papers – Now Open.

Refer to the heading Online Submission Form and click on the submit button, which will direct you to the online proposal system.

Please note proposals will not accepted through email.

IMPORTANT AND HELPFUL TIPS FOR SUBMITTING A PROPOSAL

The Call for Proposals online form is not time sensitive when submitting your proposal before the deadline date and time.

The Call for Proposals form is time sensitive IF you submit proposal on the deadline date.

The online form will automatically close on SUNDAY, JULY 15, 2018 at 10:00PM PT. If proposal is not submitted before 10:00PM PT the online form will not accept it.

It is highly recommended that you compose your title, abstract, content description, presenter, and co-presenter information in a text editor (e.g. Microsoft Word) to help check spelling, grammatical errors and the word count requirements. Then copy/paste your text into the online form fields when prompted.

Additionally, the online form may work better using either Mozilla Firefox or Google Chrome browsers. Newer versions of Internet Explorer work as well but problems with older versions of Internet Explorer have been reported in the past.

HOW MANY POSTER PRESENTATION PROPOSALS CAN I SUBMIT?

Submit no more than (2) POSTER PRESENTATION, in which you are listed as the FIRST PRESENTER.

PROPOSAL TITLE

Please limit the title to 13 words. Longer titles will be edited.

The title of the paper is concise and descriptive. It must accurately describe the content of the session. We appreciate your adherence to the submission procedures by only capitalizing the first letter of each word in the title. Please do not capitalize the entire title.
